DETERMINE FROM TABLE D-1 WHETHER A PERSON HOLDING TWO JOBS HAS JOBS OF THE SAME OR OF DIFFERENT TYPES.

For this purpose, compare the job status in column D4 (or D5) with that in column D12 (or D13). In case of SELF-EMPLOYMENT AND UNPAID FAMILY WORK, take into account also the codes in columns D3 and D11.

- (a) If the two jobs are of the same type, add up the time spent on, and the income earned from, both jobs and enter the cumulative answers in that income table which is indicated.
- (b) If the two jobs are of different types, treat each job separately. Determine first the income table into which information for the first (main) job has to be entered, and then the income table for the secondary job.

BLOCK F: LIFE HISTORY, EDUCATION, EMPLOYMENT, FERTILITY

BLOCK F IS TO BE ASKED OF ALL INDEX CHILDREN REGARDLESS OF WHETHER THEY LIVE WITH THEIR MOTHERS OR NOT

I. The Life History Matrix

The Life History Matrix (LHM) is an instrument used for recording and sequencing various events in a person’s life. Instead of the usual questionnaire format, a matrix is used as the interview schedule (Table F-1). Across the top of this matrix are the events (or behavioral categories) of interest and the first column on the left of the matrix represents the Index Child’s single years of age from birth through current age. The interview is conducted by filling in the appropriate cells of the age-by-event matrix with information given by the Index Child.

We are recording 9 major aspects of the Index Child’s life: 1) education, 2) occupation, 3) residence, 4) romantic relationship, 5) sexual experience, 6) pregnancy, 7) family planning, 8) marriage, and 9) major illnesses. We want to know how changes in one behavioral category relate to changes in other categories. The information recorded on the LHM should allow the researchers to determine the ages at which events occurred, the typical sequencing of events in relation to other events in the same behavioral category, and the typical sequencing of events in relation to events within other behavioral categories.

Administering the LHM

Review chronologically with the Index Child the events that occurred to him/her in the past, from age “0” (birth) up to the current age. Only changes within each behavioral category need to be recorded. For this reason, some of the matrix cells for a given interview will remain empty.

If it is clear that there were no events for several years within a category, a line may be drawn vertically down a column from one event to the next one.

The general instruction for the interview is to take one area (column) of the LHM as a “focus”. Then, follow the sequence of events in this area and, for every change in it, relate those changes to changes in other areas. The area selected as a point of reference will vary according to the stage in the life cycle and also according to the IC’s particular history. For example, begin by following IC’s educational history; but at a later stage in the interview, occupation may be a better key to other events in the life history.

All events are linked to the age at which they occurred. In some instances it will be easier for IC to remember the year of an event than his/her age at the time. You should be able to reconcile these two temporal measures.

In some cases IC may have experienced more than one event during the same year or at a particular age, either in one column only or in different columns. In these situations, it will be necessary to indicate the sequence of the events during the interview by writing and circling a number above the appropriate phrase. If the sequence of events is unclear, proper ordering must be checked with IC.

By moving back and forth across the several substantive areas with the Index Child, events missed earlier in the interview as well as inconsistencies among earlier responses, can be discovered and corrected.

Specific procedure and ideal sequences of questions will vary from one Index Child to the next. The area of initial focus in the life history of a person, say, 18 years old who is in college, might be different from that of another person of the same age who had completed only six years of schooling but who had many changes of residence or jobs. Areas of focus will also differ for Index Child who best recall changes in terms of their family’s history, versus others who will prefer to anchor their recall in relation to their own work or schooling histories.

What to record

A. Education

Entrances and exits from schooling, regardless of what type of schooling (preschool, vocational, etc.) should be recorded. Also record the name of school, the level of schooling, e.g. grade four, second year high school, first year college, etc. Ask about the type of course taken by IC when in college. More importantly, for each type of schooling, inquire whether IC is/was enrolled full time or part time and whether the school is public, private, sectarian, coed or otherwise.

Specify the number of months IC attended before dropping out of school. The reason for dropping out/stopping school should also be recorded. Also, one should probe explicitly as to why IC did not go on to the next grade. If IC had stopped for a few weeks or more but returned and continued the same grade/year in the same term, no stop should be recorded. But if IC returned after some duration to re-start the same grade/year again, a stop and a start must be recorded.

In asking about IC's education, you should not assume that one schooling excludes another. There may be cases where IC attended both academic school and vocational school at the same time.

B. Occupation

Occupation or job refers to any activity for which IC receives remuneration either in cash or in kind. Distinguish between main job and secondary job. Main job is the job on which IC spends the most time compared with his/her other jobs. Secondary job is the job on which IC spends time after attending to his/her main job. IC may have one or more secondary jobs. All jobs should be described precisely.

IC's place of work should be asked, i.e. if it is at home, near home, away from home or ambulant. The name or type of firm or company and whether it is public or private should also be noted when applicable.

The beginning and stopping of jobs should be recorded. If IC changed to a new job (a completely different activity) within the year, this should also be recorded. The reason for quitting a job should be recorded as well.

C. Residence

A change of residence is to be recorded when it happened. Also record the number of months IC stayed in one barangay especially for the short moves. Residence should be distinguished whether it is in the city, poblacion or barrio (to get urban-rural distinction) or abroad. The reason for the change of residence should also be recorded. It should also be specified with whom the respondent lived (e.g., parents, spouse, employer) for every change of residence.

D. Romantic relationship

Record all romantic relationships that IC had experienced and the age of his/her boyfriend or girlfriend. Ask for ages at first crush; first date and first courted someone/first courted by someone. The duration of the relationships should also be recorded. Don't fail to probe into relationships with the same sex and record this as such. Ask about main reason for a break-up.

E. Sexual experience

Inquire about any sexual experiences that IC may have had in a relationship and probe for any sexual experiences outside a relationship. Link this with pregnancy and family planning experiences.

F. Pregnancy/Fertility

For female Index Children, ask for the age at menarche.

Any pregnancy, including current pregnancy, is to be recorded (record as 1st pregnancy, 2nd pregnancy, etc.). Specify whether each pregnancy ended in a miscarriage (whether spontaneous or induced), stillbirth, or a live birth, and whether it is a single birth or a multiple birth (twins, triplets, etc.). The death of a child should also be noted.

G. Family planning

Ask about any family planning method used by IC (or the couple) regardless of the duration of use. When FP method was first tried, type of FP method used, switching to other methods, and discontinuation of use should all be noted. The reasons for the use of FP, switching to other methods, or discontinuation should also be specified. Be sure to probe for FP use even outside marriage or cohabitation.

H. Marriage or cohabitation

Marriage refers to any arrangement in which IC lived or is living with a man/woman as her husband/his wife. Thus, informal or consensual unions as well as legal marriages are included. This also includes cohabitation with same sex (specify if this is so). Also indicate whether it is IC's first marriage/cohabitation, the second, etc. Ask why they decided to get married or cohabit.

The marriage information to be recorded includes the point in time (age) at which entrance to marriage occurred and all periods of living apart from spouse/partner, whether short-term (less than six months) or long term (more than six months). Living apart refers to occasional absences of spouse due to work, travel, education, military service, etc.

Periods of separation, that is formal or informal due to, e.g., discord in the family where at least one spouse does not want to live with the other, and time spent between unions are also recorded. If separation, reunion to the same spouse, remarriage after a separation or widowhood occurred in IC's life, these should be recorded as well. Reasons for separation or termination of a marriage or union must be specified.

Probe and record if IC had experienced elopement and when this had happened.

I. Major illness

Record all major illnesses and disabilities that IC may have experienced in his/her life. Include details related with the illness such as whether the illness is chronic, hereditary, or if IC was hospitalized, underwent surgery, etc. For chronic illness or disability, ask when was the onset and the duration of such illness or disability.

One should never assume that he/she knows the order of events. The Index Child should be asked.

II. SCHOOLING OF INDEX CHILD
